

Day Two of Capacity Building Program Brings Fresh Insights and Classroom Connections among all participants

The second day of the three-day Capacity Building Programme continued with a series of engaging subject-specific sessions that encouraged educators to examine contemporary classroom practices and exchange professional insights. The discussions centred on learner engagement, assessment and instructional approaches relevant to present-day educational contexts.

Participants contributed actively drawing upon their classroom experiences to enrich the deliberations and gain fresh perspectives from fellow educators. The collaborative atmosphere enabled a productive exchange of ideas across disciplines.

Appreciating the enthusiasm and commitment displayed by the participants, the Honourable Principal MRS. INDRANI CHATTERJEE observed that the true value of professional development lies in the willingness of teachers to learn from one another. She noted that such programmes strengthen academic communities by bringing together diverse experiences and viewpoints and ultimately contributing to richer classroom experiences for students.

As the programme entered its second day, the continued engagement of the participants testified to their commitment to professional excellence and lifelong learning.
