The Institution's commitment to ecological preservation was on full display today as students engaged in an English Essay Writing Competition conveying their perspectives on the urgent need for water conservation. This event, held as a cornerstone of the Jal Pakhwada 2026 initiative focused on the theme "Saving Water is Everyone's Responsibility." Students across various levels participated with great zeal utilizing the power of the written word to explore innovative solutions and personal commitments to mitigate the global water crisis.

Appreciating the students' efforts, The Honourable Principal, MRS. INDRANI CHATTERJEE asserted that such initiatives serve as a vital bridge between academic excellence and global responsibility as they empower students to address the key challenges of their time. She further added that by making the Jal Pakhwada mission a core part of the school's activities, the school has successfully nurtured a generation of responsible students who understand that water security is a shared duty, not a choice. According to her, this competition was designed not only to refine linguistic expression but to spark a genuine behavioral shift ensuring that the students internalize the value of every drop and step into a future where water is valued as the essence of life itself.
